

Please assign a note-taker and presenter. We will ask your presenter to report back on your findings at the end of the workshop.

Scenario 2:

You are asked to perform a business case review to identify whether or not a primary care support worker for the senior population in your sub-region would be a valuable investment. The individual(s) would be attached to a local FHT/CHC and would be tasked with providing additional support (ex. Geriatrics RN) for the senior population served in that area. Identify the various datasets available on OCHPP that could assist in determining areas of need.

Question 1: What are the datasets available on the site that would be important in building this business case?

Question 2: What data elements included in the tables identified do you think would be most useful?

Question 3: Are there any important cross-sections between datasets that you think would be important to include in your analysis?

Question 4: Is there any data that you wanted to help develop your business case that was not available?

How easy did you find it to locate data on the site?
